

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

February 1, 2012 - FAA's Aerospace Medical Division Manager Joins Pilot Medical Solutions, Inc. amid waiver case increase.

Oklahoma City, Oklahoma - January 3, 2012 - Pilot Medical Solutions, Inc., announced that Dr. Warren S. Silberman will provide direct consultation to airmen via Pilot Medical Solutions' fee-for-service agreements to assist with its escalating clientele.

Pilot Medical Solutions has seen a sharp rise in Special Issuance (waiver) certification in 2011 and welcomed Dr. Silberman's assistance. Pilot Medical Solutions' Director David Hale stated, "we have seen a 75 percent increase in 2011 and Dr. Silberman is the perfect solution."

As former manager of the FAA Aeromedical Certification Division, Dr. Silberman will provide key insight to airmen seeking medical certification and assurance to applicants unfamiliar with FAA standards. As the FAA's aeromedical certification "chief", Dr. Silberman was responsible for rules and regulations changed under his watch. "Doctor Silberman has the sine qua non combination of knowledge and care", Hale stated.

Dr. Silberman served as the FAA Aeromedical Certification Chief for 14 years and was Manager of the Aerospace Medical Certification Division at the Civil Aerospace Medical Institute since June 1997. He served in the United States Army Medical Corps and Oklahoma Air National Guard as the State Air Surgeon until his retirement in 2005. He is Board Certified in Internal Medicine and Preventive/Aerospace Medicine, a Fellow of the American Osteopathic College of Internists, American Osteopathic College of Occupational and Preventive Medicine, the Aerospace Medicine Association, and the Civil Aviation Medical Association. Dr. Silberman is a featured speaker and author, providing regular content for the Federal Air Surgeons Bulletin and co-authored the chapter on Civil Aviation Medicine in the Fundamentals of Aviation Medicine Textbook.

Pilot Medical Solutions has built a solid reputation by providing confidential personalized service and hands-on medical case management. This expansion follows the increased demand for confidential aeromedical case management services pioneered by Pilot Medical Solutions. Pilot Medical Solutions has served the aviation community continuously since 1995.

Utilizing a unique approach, Pilot Medical Solutions provides acceleration of medical certification and confidential administrative support for aviation medical examiners worldwide.
